FABERGE

High Jewelry Collection

Secret Garden

The Fabergé Secret Garden High Jewellery collection is an ode to the natural world. These floral jewels are evocative of Russian artist Marc Chagall's depiction of flowers and rich bouquets, expressing vivacity and life through an artistic and organic approach. Just like the iconic Fabergé egg, flowers symbolise renewal and rebirth as well as the first sign of spring.

The Fabergé Secret Garden collection captures the colourful explosion of blossoming flowers. This composition comprises an unusual mix of materials including carved hardstone, enamel and gold, where the focus is the extraordinary harmony of shades created by exceptional gemstones with character.

Frédéric Zaavy

The sophisticated sculptural jewels are finely modelled and impeccably detailed, with individually hand-chosen gemstones, specially cut and immaculately matched or subtly contrasted, mounted into painterly abstract compositions of random, sensual and organic pavé-settings.

Chopard

Because each precious stone carries within it a unique brilliance testifying to its rarity, the Chopard Haute Joaillerie ateliers carefully craft creations that highlight gems to splendid effect by revealing their true magnificence. Witness this original jewellery set, composed of a necklace, a ring and a pair of earrings in 18-carat gold set with ten yellow diamonds totalling more than 38 carats. A creation graced with classic and timeless lines, which once again honours the Maison's jewellery expertise.

ELLIE SAAB

No one understands the power of an attention grabbing dress quite like Elie Saab.

Since opening his first bridal atelier in 1982, Saab has created gowns for women who are strong, confident and utterly comfortable in their own skins.

For this collection, there were epauletted and billows-pocketed swooshy daywear looks in desert tones, blown up abstracted Dutch prints, and adapted Nefertiti-style headpieces. While almost every look was cinched with a true Saab style, the acres of fabric – cut to perfection around the female form – hid as much as it revealed. He described his collection as a reflection on the diversity than animates the great savannas of Africa.

COLOR TRENDS

to Liven Up Your Wardrobe

As the temperatures start to drop, we're quick to embrace a wardrobe full of neutrals, from camels and browns to grays and blacks. But this fall, you may want to trade in your trusted noir turtlenecks and tan coats for a bold, bright, and totally unexpected color palette.

Style crushing on...

JENNIFER Lawrence

World's most desirable woman

Rising to stardom like the select few, cementing her name forever in the hierarchy of Hollywood elite, with an Academy Award to her name and a plethora of variant characters that one can only just dream of, Jennifer Lawrence is one of those actors who has tasted the fruit of absolute success with only a small amount of time spent in the industry.

Whether a dramatic indie or huge blockbuster franchise, Jennifer Lawrence is the most electric talent to hit Hollywood in a generation. Prior to her Oscar winning performance in the Silver Linings Playback, she was accepted as a budding talent with her emotional and moving performance in Winter Bone. Lawrence began acting in her early teens, when she played a 14-year-old overachiever in Lori Petty's semiautobiographical, The Poker House (2008), and as a young woman dealing with the sudden onset of adulthood and her own burgeoning sexuality in Guillermo Arriaga's tragic drama, The Burning Plain (2008). Her other mega projects include The Hunger Games and the X-Men, which finally made her a household name.

She also received Golden Globe Awards for her roles in both of these films, and for her lead performance as Joy Mangano in the biopic Joy (2015). She has since starred in the science fiction romance Passengers (2016), the psychological horror film Mother! (2017), and the spy thriller Red Sparrow (2018).

■ At the 2019 Los Angeles premiere of "Dark Phoenix."

The Oscar winner wore a long black gown with a deep-v neckline and fashioned her hair in a loose, undone updo. The oscar-winning actress plays Mystique in the film and recently got engaged to Cooke Maroney. She wore dark eye makeup for the event, and chose an updo hairstyle that framed her face.

■ At the 2019 Paris Fashion Week in Christian Dior

If you need sartorial inspiration for the upcoming party season (oh who are we kidding? It's always party season!) then look no further than this Jennifer Lawrence appearance. Her Dior black crochet top with a black silk skirt and black leather jacket was giving an elegant look. She paired all this with the Dior jewelry and Dior shoes offering additional layers of intrigue.

■ At the 2018 Academy Awards Red Carpet

Oscar's veteran Jennifer Lawrence brought the sparkle as she stepped out at the 2018 Awards rocking a metallic Dior gown. She looked amazing in the shimmering dress with some wavy curls and a bold red matte lip with an intense smokey eye. She looked stunning in this glittery silver dress.

■ At the 2018 BAFTA Film Awards

She opted for a black Dior gown while walking the red carpet of the BAFTA Awards. She looked every inch the Hollywood superstar in a stunning off-the-shoulder black gown, which hugged her toned curves as she posed with aplomb. The gown featured an elegant black silk bodice, which cinched in at the star's waist before flowing into a sophisticated skirt.

She is an acclaimed actress who picked up the BAFTA for Best Supporting Actress in 2014 for American Hustle and won an Oscar in 2013 for Silver Linings Playbook.

■ At the 2017 Premiere of "Mother"! in New York

Jennifer Lawrence looked resplendent in a custom Christian Dior Couture dress for the New York premiere of her film 'Mother. Jennifer looked angelic, dressing in the same ethereal white dress from the movie posters. The dress featured a fitted bodice with ruching and a V-neckline, which showed off her cleavage.

■ At the 2016 Post-Oscars Party

To be fair, this choice was pretty great!! She looked irresistibly chic, taking a break from dresses, she wore a crop top with a matching, high-slit skirt to a post-Oscars party. She matched her choker and shoes to the silver details on her outfit.

■ At the 2016 Golden Globes Awards

Jennifer took home a Best Actress Golden Globe for her role in Joy. Wearing her signature color, Lawrence opted for a tiered red gown with a statement necklace at the Golden Globes Awards. Her gown proves she loves to wear cutout details and play with structure.

■ At the 2015 Screening of "Serena"

Our pretty woman sparkled in Dior dress with side cut-outs as she hits the black carpet at the screening of "Serena." She pulled her hair back to let her outfit shine. The cutout detail is very "Pretty Woman."

■ At the 2014 Oscars

Lawrence wore this classic peplum gown to the Oscars. She slays the red carpet again and often wears red to formal events. She offset the strapless neckline with a choker-like diamond necklace resting on her collarbone.

■ At 2013 Oscars best actress Oscar for Silver Linings Playbook

Jennifer Lawrence won the best actress Oscar at the 85th Academy Awards, for her role in Silver Linings Playbook. She defeated a strong lineup, which included 86-year-old Emmanuelle Riva from Amour and Jessica Chastain, star of Zero Dark Thirty. In Silver Linings Playbook, Lawrence played a troubled wannabe dancer opposite Bradley Cooper, in a romance-cum-comedy directed by David O Russell.

Affordable Ideas for Your HOME

Do not underestimate the power of accessories. Carefully chosen, the right ones can give your home a fresh and warm look without breaking the bank

Accessorizing your home involves adding finishing touches to your home décor after you have placed your furniture. Even if the furniture is exactly what you have envisioned for the room, it won't feel complete without a few well-placed accessories that pull the room together.

Many people stop decorating before dealing with the most important part; accessorizing. Sometimes figuring out just how to group those pieces together and display them in your home can be a challenge. So how do you create good looking arrangements? Here are few tips and tricks designer use that can help you display any type of accessories – whether they're flea-market finds, family heirlooms, or pricey collectibles.

Artwork

Artwork is one of the most popular trimmings used to accessorize house. Whatever your artwork includes - valuable prints, family photographs, or originals from your kids – you want it to capture attention. However, while arranging pieces of artwork, you need to make sure that they are placed at eye level. This will make everyone notice them the moment they enter a room. Large paintings are effective when displayed alone on walls, while small pieces have more impact when grouped together.

Lighting

Lighting is an important element in accessorizing your home. Use lighting as an accessory to accent fireplaces, artwork, plants, and ornamental objects. Lighting should be warm, cozy, and inviting. Place a cluster of candles on a table to accent the room or corner with soft light. Use floor lamps to light up the dark corners of the room. Place a light behind a folding screen to add a glowing accent, use recessed lighting or chandeliers to accent the centerpiece on a table. An interesting or unusual light fixture will give your room the added 'wow' factor.

Textile

The varied colors and textures of fabrics and rugs liven up any room. To include texture in your accessories, use a rug in a neutral color for a modern room, or a rug with an interesting design in a plain room, spruce up your chairs, sofa or bed with throw pillows of different sizes and colors, place a bold throw on a single piece of furniture or tie in any bold colors or patterns, or use soft, muted hues in your curtains as the final touch. Area rugs can also define a space and pull a room together. Place furniture completely on the rug for a warmer effect.

Natural Elements

Liven up the room with plants or floral bouquet and use them to introduce color and life into the room. Plants and fresh flowers brighten the atmosphere in your home. So experiment using old urns, water, pitchers and teapots as vases. Collectibles make great containers for flower arrangement. Take your favorite vase or bowl to florist for a custom designed arrangement.

Knickknacks

Display a collection of knickknacks, statues, vases or other similar items of different sizes, heights, width or textures so they go together thereby creating balance and interest. If you have a collection of various small keepsakes from a vacation, display them together, but remember that each item should be clearly visible within the grouping, or otherwise it will look cluttered and unpresentable.

Mirrors:

Mirrors are great to expand a smaller space. Try adding a large full length mirror with a floor stand or attach one to the wall, behind a small dining room table. Try leaning a long mirror behind a bed as a head board for a more dramatic look. A floor standing mirror is savvy investment as it makes any room appear larger. Simply prop one up against a wall for an instantly larger looking space.

10 FACE MASK

Mistakes You Could Be Making

You Don't Take Your Skin Type Or Concerns Into Account

You choose your facial cleanser and moisturizer based on your individual skin type and concerns and that's how you should go about picking a face mask, too.

You Skip Cleansing Your Skin Before Using One

In general, you'll want to apply a face mask to clean, dry skin, so make sure to cleanse your skin first and pat dry. Otherwise you could be layering a face mask on top of all sorts of dirt and bacteria. Use a gentle, no-rinse cleansing option like micellar water to help remove dirt, oil, and traces of makeup.

You Apply With Dirty Hands

It's important that your face is clean before applying a face mask, but it's also a must to have clean hands. You don't want to transfer oils or bacteria from your hands to your face! So, don't smooth a face mask on with your fingers unless you've given your hands an extra thorough cleansing first. Or for a hygienic and mess-free way to apply a face mask, try using a flat foundation brush. Then, there's no need to get your hands dirty.

You Use Way Too Much

As with many other skin care products, when it comes to face masks, less is often more. A super-thick layer won't result in a more effective masking session. Typically, you should only need to apply one even layer to your clean, dry skin.

You Don't Customize Sheet Masks

Have you ever used a sheet mask that didn't quite fit your face? Instead of sucking it up and using the face mask as is, you can make it a better fit. Grab a pair of scissors and snip off any excess, then pop it on as per usual. That way, your sheet mask is likely to slip and slide around your face.

You Only Mask During The Day

It's easy to assume that you have to be awake to use a face mask, but that isn't quite the case. It's indeed true that you shouldn't snooze while wearing a clay mask, there are other masks that are meant to be worn overnight.

You Leave It On For Too Long

We get it: When you put a face mask on, it can be easy to let your thoughts drift—and before you know it, quite a bit of time has passed. Unfortunately, leaving a mask on for an extra-long time won't ensure it works better.

You Forget To Moisturize After

After masking, you aren't finished with your skin care routine. You need to follow-up with moisturizer, otherwise masking might result in dry skin.

You Forget To Use Them Consistently

Who says you have to limit yourself to using just one mask? Go ahead and try multi-masking—i.e., applying different face masks to different areas of your face at the same time—with our Pure-Clay face mask line. Consider what skin concerns you have, then pick your face masks accordingly.
